HOW TO PLAY

SMASH

The future of the earth is in your hands Captain Harvester. You must SMASH the wave after wave of enemy aliens craftily disguised as keyboard characters.

You choose either Noise or Mute.
Then you choose from Letters, Numbers, Everything.
And then one player or two players.
Then single or double targets.
And then the level of difficulty from 1-8.
Then you go get the aliens!

DECISION

You've tried it all . . . played situations by the book, used every minute of past experiences to solve a problem, tried tackling it every way. You've asked for advice and it's been conflicting. Some agree with your hunch, others see the solution another way. A lot is depending on this: security, prosperity, business — the entire future. What do you do? There's nowhere else to turn to, no-one has all the right answers anymore — even governments can't get it right. The only thing to do, the only possible solution, the only way to reach a decision is to . . . is to call up the DECISION MAKER! The All Seeing Eye!

GOSH. I HOPE THE
CAPTAIN CAN SAVE
THE EARTH!!

One thing about the mighty Wurlitzer Organ that limited its appeal was its lack of portability and the fact that it didn't have a built in diary. There is now an alternative . . . and where the Wurlitzer was found wanting the Organiser II does have a diary . . . and alarms too!

Harmonization is easy on the Organiser Organ — the more Organisers in your group the greater the fun!

M for MUSIC at the Games Menu gives you

BATTLE SHIPS

Your helmsman, Eric, doesn't think that you can do it — show Eric and the world that you can!

You, Captain Harvester, are in command of your fleet. There's thick fog, helicopters cannot fly. Your radar is out of action. You can only give orders by giving coordinates on the plan of battle.

Choose 1 or 2 players.
Choose whether you want Kamikaze.
Your grid of play is 10 x 10.
Coordinates are A-J from East to West, 1-9 from North to South.

You have a powerful fleet at your disposal, 4 nuclear powered Thrust class submarines, 3 heavily armed Psion class destroyers, 2 Olympus engined cruisers and the flagship of the fleet, the Battleship, the Harvester Warrior. Your opponent, either player 2 or the computer, has a fleet made up in exactly the same way.

Your task is to lay down your ships within the battle area grid in places which you think are unlikely to be spotted by your opponent. When you have finished your opponent does the same on his grid.

Remember that the radar is not working for you or your opponent so you have to use your judgement and guess where the enemy ships are. You take it in turns to fire on your opponent by selecting a square in the grid and FIRE! If it's a hit you will know.

Each ship occupies a certain number of grid squares, 4 squares for a battleship, 3 for a destroyer, cruisers 2 and submarines 1. You have a fixed number of ships to begin with, 4 submarines, 3 cruisers, 2 destroyers and 1 battleship.

Before you can begin you must first 'lay down' your fleet by choosing the grid square on which you want the bow (sharp end) of the ship to be and then the heading (which direction the bow is pointing in). If you have 'laid down' a Destroyer, for instance, in grid square F6 heading East then grid squares F4, F5 and F6 will all be target squares containing parts of that destroyer. If any of those target squares is hit by your opponent then a hit is registered to your opponent, when all the squares are hit then HIT AND SUNK is recorded. The battle is over when one player has destroyed all of the opposing fleet. Your aim by moving round the Battle area with the arrow keys to select a target square and then fire by pressing "F".

If you choose Kamikaze, an uncontrollable Kamikaze bomber will wreak havoc by flying across the battlefield and bombing everything in his path — when this happens there is nothing anyone can do . . . except wait and count the cost when he's disappeared. But who knows when he will return?!

Go to it . . . and win!

Your radar is out of action . . . you've got to seek and destroy the enemy before he sinks all of your ships. Is your best guess good enough? Will you save your fleet? Are you the Superhero or will your opponent win? . . . Watch out for the Kamikaze, he doesn't care who he sinks. Remember, one shot will sink a sub, 2 sink a cruiser and 3 sinks a destroyer. But it takes 4 shots to sink a BATTLESHIP!

YOUR RADAR IS OUT OF ACTION... YOU'VE GOT TO SEEK AND DESTROY THE ENEMY BEFORE HE SINKS ALL OF YOUR SHIPS. IS YOUR BEST GUESS GOOD ENOUGH? WILL YOU SAVE YOUR FLEET? ARE YOU THE SUPER-HERO OR WILL YOUR OPPONENT WIN?... WATCH OUT FOR THE KAMIKAZE, HE DOESN'T CARE WHO HE SINKS. REMEMBER, ONE SHOT WILL SINK A SUB, TWO SINK A CRUISER AND THREE SINK A DESTROYER. BUT IT TAKES FOUR SHOTS TO SINK A BATTLESHIP! YOUR HELMSMAN, ERIC, DOESN'T THINK THAT YOU CAN DO IT—SHOW ERIC AND THE WORLD THAT YOU CAN !!!
